

GROWING NATIVE PLANTS IN NORTHWEST FLORIDA

ABOUT US

Native Plant Company opened in 2021 after years of trialing techniques for growing native plants in containers and establishing them in landscapes.

We grow from seed, cutting, and divisions focusing on regional plants with local genetics. We ethically and legally source and process our own seeds, collecting, cleaning, pre-treating when necessary, and storing. It may take several months to get a seed ready to be planted and started on its journey through our greenhouse.

We have a commitment to environmental sustainability, and some values we focus on are: recycling pots to reduce plastic waste, omitting the use of harsh chemicals, and keeping our costs low to make native plants accessible for everyone.

We strive to be good stewards of the family land that the nursery sits on. We practice land restoration methods including invasive species removal and prescribed fire to encourage the native plant populations that would have occurred here hundreds of years ago. We are always looking toward the future for sustainable growth to better serve our area with native plants while respecting the land that allows us to do so.

Our goal is to send out the healthiest plants possible. We grow most of our selection on site, hand mixing each batch of soil. Our plants have short availability windows because we only want to sell them at their best. Our inventory changes based on each plant's seasonal timeline.

We greatly appreciate everyone who supports the natural beauty of Florida. Every native plant helps to support biodiversity and protect the wild Florida that we call home. Phone service is limited at the nursery, so we ask for people to reach out to us through our contact form on our website.
